Strike Call Gains Favor From Farmers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A call to unite and strike has gone out to the traditionally independent American farmer — and there is evidence he is listening.

The appeal comes from American Agriculture, a group of disgruntled farmers in Colorado who say they are tired of selling their milo, wheat and corn for less than it costs to produce.

"We're working for one common goal — 100 percent of parity for all products that we produce," said Dale Schroder, a spokesman for the fledgling group.

"We ask for no subsidies; we're willing to take our chances with the elements. But we want a contract from the government as to how much any individual farmer is expected to produce," he said.

The movement to unite farmers appears to be spreading. Farmers in Washington, Nebraska, Kansas and Georgia have staged marches and "tractorades" to call attention to their plight.

"We're getting really strong in about 30 states," said Schroder. "And I think we'll have a really good turnout on this thing. I feel we're going to come out of this with support like you wouldn't believe."

American Agriculture has named Dec. 14 as strike day. Farmers have been asked to withhold all produce from the market and to boycott all but essential goods after that date.

"We're not going to buy a damned thing," Schroder said. "We consumed 40 percent of the steel made in the Soviet Union Continuing To Buy U.S. Grain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is continuing its U.S. grain purchases, this time buying an additional 400,000 metric tons of corn.

It was the third Russian purchase in 24 hours, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday. The Soviets also bought 601,600 tons of corn and 100,000 tons of wheat.

The purchases are expected to offset a smaller than expected Russian harvest, estimated at 194 million tons, or 10 per cent less than U.S. experts had forecast.

The Soviets are in the second year of a long-term agreement with the United States that commits them to buy at least 6 million tons of grain annually.

So far, the Russians have bought some 3.4 million tons for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30. But they're allowed up to 15 million tons of wheat and corn in 1977-78 and department officials expect the full amount will be purchased.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds and is equal to 36.7 bushels of wheat or 39.4 bushels of corn.

As customary, the department did not identify the private firms making the sales nor the prices involved.

Redistricting Bill Accepted By House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new, scaled down version of the controversial congressional redistricting bill was accepted today by the House Governmental Affairs Committee. A vote was called for later in the day.

The substitute version of the Senate-approved bill makes substantive changes in districts Franklin and Hamilton counties improve chances for seats for Democrat candidates. Changes of a more technical nature are planned for the Akron area, affecting the 11th and 14th districts, according to committee chairman Rep. Michael Del Bane, D-Hubbard.

Del Bane will need affirmative votes from at least 10 of the 12 Democrats on the committee to report the bill favorably. Two are expected to be absent.

"I don't expect to get any Republican votes," the Youngstown area lawmaker said, "but if we don't get it out today, we'll try again tomorrow."

With a March 23 filing deadline for Congress and a veto of the bill by Gov. James A. Rhodes almost certain, majority Democrats must complete action on the measure during the current session, if they want to affect elections next year.

House Democrats view the revised plan as more workable, since it would have a significant impact on only four of Ohio's 23 congressional districts, leaving cities like Cleveland, Toledo and Dayton virtually unchanged from current boundaries.

Sen. Harry Mesel, D-Youngstown, said he planned to reconvene today the Senate-House conference committee which until Tuesday was thought to have reached a controversial and highly publicized bill giving collective bargaining rights to about 520,000 state and local public employees.

He said he was reconvening the six-member panel to reopen an issue that apparently threatens some Democratic House support of the conference committee's report. It involves deletion from the House version language that exempts non-union members from having to pay union dues if it runs against their religious beliefs.

Mesel indicated he is willing to restore the provision or at least consider some types of compromise.

Majority Democrats in both chambers are anxious to retain full party support of the conference bill, anticipating a veto of the long-debated legislation by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes. The governor rejected a similar proposal in 1975.

The redistricting bill, which already has been approved by the Senate, originally would have carved up several existing districts in a bid to increase Democratic strength in Ohio's 23-member congressional delegation. It now is 13-10 GOP.

Affected by the legislation would be Republicans Chalmers P. Wylie and Samuel L. Devine, both of Columbus; along with Democrat Thomas A. Luken and Republican Willis P. Gradison, both of Cincinnati. Presumably, Democrats could wind up with one new seat in Franklin while shoring up Luken's district in Cincinnati.

In other business Tuesday, the Senate approved 29-0 and returned to the House, with amendments, a proposal to broaden coverage of unemployment compensation to include domestic workers, substitute teachers, non-public employees, and others not now eligible to receive jobless pay.

Although final action won't come this week, the House Finance Committee recommended approval 12-0 of a bill granting judges throughout the state their first salary increase since 1973. The bill, which still needs House floor approval as well as that of the Senate, would not become effective until April 1978.

Increases range as high as 30-35 percent.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasak, D-Akron, said hearings will be held in the upper chamber this week on a House-approved bill giving tangible property tax breaks to industries expanding, or locating in Ohio for the first time.

He ruled out a Senate floor vote this week, but held out a possibility that one could come next week if the legislature decides to extend its current session until then.

Police Mobilize For 2nd Day Of Demonstrations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rival demonstrators reassembled at separate locations near the White House today as the Shah of Iran, winding up his violence-scarred state visit, paid a return call on President Carter.

In the aftermath of Tuesday's raucous street protests, which resulted in 124 injuries and 12 arrests when fighting broke out among pro-and anti-Shah forces, a heavy police contingent today kept the groups more than a block apart.

The protesting groups were far smaller in numbers and more orderly than on Tuesday, as the police lines were doubled.

About 1,000 chanting Iranian students, many wearing masks to conceal their identity, continued to protest the Shah's U.S. visit from Lafayette Park, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the front of the executive mansion.

Some 200 other opponents marched in a circle on the Ellipse, a park area behind the White House where much of Tuesday's violence occurred.

Meanwhile, about 200 pro-Shah demonstrators assembled at 17th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, several hundred feet from the students.

Police had canceled permits for demonstrations closer to the White House in the wake of Tuesday's violence.

Following the White House meeting with Carter, the Shah's schedule called for him to attend an Embassy Row luncheon hosted by Vice President Walter F. Mondale and then a meeting on Capitol Hill with the House International Relations Committee.

The Shah and his wife, the Empress Farah, are to leave tonight from Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington for Paris.

In a White House meeting Tuesday that was overshadowed by the demonstrations, the Shah reportedly pledged to Carter that he would not push for higher oil prices at a meeting of the Organization of Petroleum-

Exporting Countries next month.

The monarch, whose nation supplies 7 to 8 per cent of U.S. oil imports, has said in recent interviews that Iran would remain neutral on the pricing issue. The Washington Post said he was understood to have told Carter the same thing.

This has been the most tumultuous of the Shah's 12 visits here during his 36-year reign.

There were 12 arrests and 124 people reported injured, 25 of them police officers, as repeated clashes broke out between the contending factions.

George Washington University Hospital officials said at least 45 demonstrators were treated in the emergency room.

Three were admitted, including a 66-year-old pro-Shah demonstrator from California. He was listed in serious condition late Tuesday night after undergoing two hours of surgery for a fractured skull.

A 21-year-old demonstrator was in satisfactory condition with a spinal injury. The third, a 20-year-old anti-Shah student, was in fair condition with facial cuts.

National Park Service police estimated that about 8,000 people took part in Tuesday's protests.

The Shah's supporters see him as a hero for bringing prosperity and stability to Iran. His detractors look upon him as a tyrant whose regime would crumble without U.S. economic and military ties.

The most serious of Tuesday's incidents erupted just beyond the White House fence as the Shah and his wife arrived for a ceremonial welcome from Carter.

The two leaders, along with their first ladies, went through their paces on the podium on the South Lawn, contending first with the shouts of the demonstrators, then with tear gas wafted by a gentle southern breeze, then with the roar of low-flying helicopters.

On the White House roof, teams of snipers stood by, armed with rifles. The tear gas, used when police were unable to keep the opposing factions apart, first reached the area as the president was speaking. Almost everyone nearby felt the effects of the fumes, but Carter completed his remarks without pause.

Both leaders dabbed at their eyes but the Shah seemed more irritated by the fumes than the president.

Carter tried to make light of the incident. Receiving a tapestry of George Washington from the Shah after they entered the White House, Carter remarked, "I apologize for the temporary air pollution in Washington."

Later, following a black-tie state dinner he hosted for his visitor, Carter said in a toast, "There's one thing I have to say about the Shah. He sure knows how to draw a crowd."

Tuesday's series of incidents, the largest and most violent since the Vietnam War protest days, overshadowed the substantive talks Carter and the Shah held. The two leaders met for 90 minutes Tuesday.

There was no sign of any weakening in U.S.-Iranian friendship despite the allegations of human rights violations in Iran and Carter's interest in reducing arms sales overseas.

Iran has been the No. 1 purchaser of U.S. weaponry in recent years, and a White House statement said Carter pledged continued U.S. arms exports to that country: Iran has bought about $15 billion worth of U.S. arms in the last five years.

Later, Carter said U.S. military ties with Iran are "unshakable." He called Iran a stabilizing force in the Middle East.

The vaguely worded statement made no reference to the many items of sophisticated weaponry on the Shah's shopping list.

Of particular interest to him are 140 F-16 fighter planes that would supplement 160 already purchased.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell gave no details of the discussions, but said Carter told the Shah he was pleased by the monarch's attitude.

Sadat Flies To Damascus

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat flew to Damascus today to seek endorsement from skeptical Syrian allies for his dramatic offer to visit Jerusalem on a peace mission.

President Hafez Assad, a persistent critic of unilateral moves in Arab-Israeli relations, embraced the Egyptian president on the tarmac of Damascus international airport as hundreds of armed security guards stood watch.

Sadat's first official visit to the Syrian capital since May 1975 involved unusually tight security because his proposal to go to Israel could increase the risk of attack from extremists, sources said. Damascus has also recently been the target of random bombings, which the official press has blamed on the arch-rival regime in neighboring Iraq.

Before leaving Cairo, Sadat confirmed Israeli President Menachem Begin's formal invitation had arrived but said he had not yet fixed a date for the visit. Asked if he might go next week, he replied, "Let us hope so."

The scheduling of a visit is complicated by Begin's plans to visit Britain Nov. 20-23 and the Moslem holiday of Kurban Bairam on Nov. 20-22.

The Egyptian president talked earnestly with Assad as they walked up the red carpet to the reviewing stand.

Syrian officials and the state-controlled press have been restrained in their reaction to Sadat's surprise announcement in Cairo last week that he was willing to go to the Israeli Knesset to talk peace.

Privately Syrians have shown undisguised anger. They claim they were not consulted in advance on the proposal.

More significantly, Syria sees the one-man initiative as a threat to the united Arab front's efforts to win concessions from the Jewish state to withdraw from all occupied Arab territories. They also want Israel to recognize a Palestinian state on the Israeli-controlled West Bank of the Jordan River.

With guarded language, the press today condemned "bilateral solutions" and warned that "attempts to split Syria and Egypt will meet with total failure."

Informed sources believe that Syria probably will not reveal the results of the Assad-Sadat summit, even if some convergence of views is reached. The Syrians have been the strongest supporters of the Palestinians and their quest for statehood and are unlikely to publicly endorse a Sadat initiative which is so far viewed as bypassing Palestinian interests.

On the other hand, the sources say, Assad will not want publicly to air any disagreements with Sadat.

Another main topic expected to be on the summit agenda is the U.S.-Israeli working paper on reconvening the Geneva conference. The Syrians are more critical of the plan than Egypt, primarily because it avoids mention of the Palestine Liberation Organization which Assad says must be represented at Geneva. Syria also objects to geographical groupings in Geneva talks, fearing they could lead to individual agreements weakening the overall Arab cause.

City Council Paves Way For CCA To Borrow Money

Circleville City Council Tuesday approved an ordinance enabling Container Corporation of America to issue industrial development first mortgage revenue bonds to finance additional pollution control facilities at the local plant.

The legislation will enable CCA to secure bonds at a better interest rate than could be obtained through normal financial channels, Mayor Frank Barnhill said. The legislation is no way obligates the city, he explained.

Held to a third reading was an ordinance transferring $100,000 from the sewer service operating fund to the sewage treatment plant capital improvement account. City Law Director John Adkins indicated there is a question whether the money can be transferred from the operating account to the capital improvement account.

A housekeeping ordinance transferred $200 from the general fund to the mayor's incidental and supplies account, $100 from the general fund to the auditor's incidental and supplies account, $300 from the general fund to the law director's incidental and supplies account and $2,000 from the general fund to the hospital and medical insurance account.

A section of an ordinance appropriating funds for the repair of Fire House No. 2 was approved. The funds were originally appropriated from the Federal Revenue Sharing Fund. City Auditor Marv Turner said the funds would have to come from the capital improvement account.

Council authorized the purchase of an electronic pager for law director Adkins at cost of $370. The pager will enable law enforcement agencies in the city and county to contact Adkins more quickly in case of an emergency.

A general housekeeping ordinance was approved transferring funds within the service department. The ordinance transferred $30,000 from capital improvement to the major street construction and repair fund and $2,200 from PERS to gas and oil. Also approved by council was legislation authorizing City Safety Director John McGinnis to advertise for bids for gas for 1978 for use by the police and the fire departments.

Council member Steve Jones reported he has received a complaint from a resident of Pinckney Street concerning noise at Nate's Disco, a West Main Street bar. Chief of Police Robert Temple said he would contact the owner immediately. According to Temple, the owner has been most cooperative in the past when such problems have been called to his attention.

"When we received similar complaints last summer, we contacted Nate and he locked his back door so it would not be left open. But the fire chief made him unlock it. People should contact the police department about these complaints. Then they would get same day service rather than waiting until the next council meeting," Temple said.

Jones also said he has received a complaint from a resident of Fairview Ave. who said the city sewer backed up. Jones directed this complaint to City Service Director Atwood Jones who noted it would have to be referred to Charles Taylor, director of public utilities.

Councilman David Goldschmidt said the financial committee of council is working on the annual appropriation budget.

Service Director Jones reminded council a public hearing will be held Nov. 29 concerning the rezoning of an area from the end of Pontious Lane to the water tower on Nicholas Drive. The service director also announced that bids for street improvement to be funded by the Federal Economic Development Act will be opened Nov. 23.

Safety Director John McGinnis commented on the communication from Municipal Court Judge O.

Charles Hosterman requesting council give the court the police cruiser that is to be used for trade for a new cruiser. McGinnis said there is a possibility the city could acquire a 1973 Chevrolet Vega confiscated in a recent arrest and designate it for use of the Municipal Court. Chief of Police Temple expressed the opinion that "You shouldn't give the judge a car that we have worn out."

Temple announced the annual Santa Claus Parade will be held Nov. 25.

Clyde Houdeshell, chief operator of the sewage treatment plant, announced that everything was in operation at the plant except for one piece of equipment and that by the end of the month the plant should be in full operation.

A letter was read from Pickaway County Commissioners concerning the annexation hearing for the Meadowview Subdivision which will be held Dec. 27. The area has access to a storm sewer and city water, but a sanitary sewer will have to be installed according to Service Director Jones. He said there would be 16 to 18 houses in the subdivision.

Councilman Tom Wells said that members should talk to Mayor Barnhill concerning complaints received about the cable television service to the community. The mayor has a meeting scheduled with officials of the company concerning the numerous consumer complaints the city has received recently.

Present at Tuesday's meeting were: Joe Bell, president; Dixie Watters, David Crawford, Steve Jones, Tom Wells, David Goldschmidt, John Jenkins, Harold Hoffman, Doris Mancini, clerk; Mayor Barnhill, Law Director John Adkins, Robert Kramer of the Pickaway County Health Department, Police Chief Temple, Safety Director McGinnis, Service Director Jones, Houdeshell, Fire Chief Mike Brown and council members elect Paul Roan and Bruce Bell.

State School Board May Have Promised Funds It Doesn't Have

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Now that the Ohio board of education has said the state will pay for buses used for desegregation, some members of the state controlling board are wondering where the money is going to come from.

"I wouldn't object in helping the school districts out if we had the money," said Sen. Harry Meshel, D-Youngstown, a member of the controlling board and chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

"There is no question the schools need help," Meshel added. "If we take the existing money, then we'll wipe out money for other districts."

The first test of the controlling board's willingness to spend money for buses will come next month when the state school board will ask it to authorize $3.2 million for 213 buses for the Columbus school district.

Although a final desegregation plan for Cleveland is still pending, Cleveland school officials have estimated they'll need 363 buses to transport 36,000 elementary and junior high school pupils next fall.

The legislature approved $11.9 million this year and $10.6 million next year to replace school buses, but more than $8.6 million could be required by Columbus and Cleveland to pay for buses for desegregation.

Franklin Walter, state school superintendent, said he is planning to ask the legislature for an additional $7 million for such buses. But Meshel said the state currently doesn't have the money for that.

Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-Bourneville, chairman of the House Finance Committee, said, "I don't like a federal judge telling us what we're going to do, especially when there's money involved. There is no money in the budget to pay for any of the things that the state school board and the judges are talking about."

Sen. William F. Bowen, D-Cincinnati, a controlling board member, said that "if we get into providing state money for buses, then we're headed for serious financial problems."

But Rep. Waldo Bennet, R-Lima, another controlling board member, said, "I'm not going to beat my fist on the table and say we're not going to spend a cent for busing. We're going to have some responsibility to pay for desegregation, and we better face up to it."

Strike Call . . .

United States. If it goes to the 14th, this thing is going to shake this nation to the core."

Parity, the issue on which the strikers have focused, is a term to describe a "fair" price for farm products in relation to the farmer's cost of living. Farm prices in mid-October were just under 65 percent of parity for most products.

"We want a reasonable profit," said Tommy Carter of Alma, Ga. "How many common workers and laborers would be willing to get 64 percent of the salary they should be receiving? Well, that's what we get for our crops."

Georgia is a stronghold for strike supporters. Larry Lee, spokesman for the National Pork Producers Council and a former Georgian, said everything bad that can happen in farming happened in Georgia this year.

"From drought to army worms to aflatoxin (a fungus which attacks corn and soybeans) — all but about 30 counties have been declared disaster areas," said Lee.

Few observers give the strike much chance of success.

Lee said the most that farmers can do is call attention to their problems.

"I personally think that they will focus a lot of attention on the situation — and that's all they can hope to do. To excite the consumer is all for naught. They need to convince the Congressional people; they are the ones with the power," Lee said.

"What possible impact could it have on a market that has 1.3 billion bushels of wheat and two 6-billion-bushel corn crops back-to-back?" asked Tony Dechant, president of the National Farmers Union.

Atheist Fails To Stop Christmas Carols

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair has failed in an effort to get Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe to stop the singing of religious Christmas carols in the capitol rotunda.

She also asked that the nativity scene usually placed beneath a Christmas tree in the rotunda be removed.

And, while she was talking to two of Briscoe's assistants Tuesday, she asked that a granite statue depicting the 10 Commandments on the capitol grounds be removed.

"The Christmas tree in the rotunda is traditional, along with the celebration, and it will be there this year," said Dickie Travis, Briscoe's administrative assistant.

"Then we will take some kind of legal action against this thing," said Mrs. O'Hair. "There will be some difficulty at Christmas here. I'll be back."

Women's Service Groups Compete For Limited Funds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Women's service groups frequently find themselves competing among themselves for limited funding, according to two leaders of women's groups in Ohio.

"Rape crisis centers were 'in' a few years ago and that's where the funds went," admitted Suzanne Doerge of Women Helping Women in Cincinnati. "That's not 'in' anymore. What's 'in' is things like battered women."

"That's not to say that's not important, but what we're finding is that we're competing for the same funds," Lynn Hammond of the Rape Crisis Center in Cleveland said.

Both women made their comments following a seminar on the issue of women's service organizations at the Ohio Welfare Conference.

The three-day conference, which continues through today, has attracted about 1,500 persons.

"There is a limit to what is available," Ms. Hammond said. "We are all supporting each other, but we also often find ourselves in competition for the same funds."

What has helped gain funds is an increase in the credibility of groups dealing in women's services.

"People are beginning to see the professionalism of what we do," Ms. Hammond said. "We stuck with it and we have won a lot of support."

That support has enabled them to gain funding, particularly on the local level.

"It is more difficult to gain funding on the state level. Our priority is not very high," she said. "On the local level, it's easier to convince individuals in the community that we've done something."

She noted another factor which operates in favor of women's groups. "We're providing services they (local government) often don't want to provide," Ms. Hammond said. "When we demonstrate our competency, they leave us alone."

Both women agreed that women's service groups have been taken much more seriously and are operating on a different plane than they were a few years ago.

"The levels of talks are much different than they used to be," Ms. Hammond said.

"We don't have to start at square one so often. We're operating on a more sophisticated level within the whole community."

"I think the growth of women's service organizations has paralleled the growth of the women's movement," Ms. Doerge said.

OSBA Members Told To Build Learning Climate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Ohio School Boards Association were urged Tuesday to return to their districts to build a climate for learning.

Speaking before the OSBA, Franklin B. Walter, state superintendent of public instruction, said that local boards of education "must create a balanced environment, with the established educational system working together with public concerns."

"If you will make quality education a priority in your community, if you will keep alive the visions of future education that led you to seek your position, if you will carry your convictions back home and fire the interest of parents and teachers, then we will have made the biggest step forward in producing the right climate for learning," Walter said.

Such a climate is needed Walter said if Ohio is to build a vigorous educational system.

"Our most powerful tool for moving the economy upward is the creation of the nation's most exciting, most vigorous and highest-priority education system," he said.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial gains .60 to 843.38 in the first half hour.

Actively traded issues in the early going included Merck, up 1/4 at 57 1/4, and Sears Roebuck, 1/4 higher at 30 1/4.

Tuesday's gain sent the Dow Jones industrial average ahead 4.42 to 842.78. Advances outnumbered declines by about a 2-1 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume increased to 27.74 million shares from 23.22 million in the previous session.

Derby News

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 869-2462

At morning worship service at the Derby United Methodist Church on Sunday, the Rev. Linda Stafford took her sermon text from the Book of Mathew, 7:24-29. She also gave some advice in a discussion with the children: let's don't let the world and its troubles get you down; never give up, but pick yourself up and begin all over again. Good advice for all ages.

The greeters on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Myers. Flowers for the altar were given by Jody, Kerwin, Tom and Marci Durlinger. The adult choir sang for services. It was announced that the Church sponsored Cub Scouts desperately need parents or others who can spare some time, as den mothers, leaders, and/or assistants; anyone interested please contact Cubmaster George Wickham, Pat Sarosi, Pat Jeffries, Nancy Rawlins or Dewie Hunnicutt.

United Methodist Women of the West Ohio Conference held the fourth annual meeting on Saturday at Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware. Election of officers and other business attended to. Entertainment was furnished by the Singing Wives of Ministers of West Ohio Conference. A guest speaker was Peggy Billings, former Methodist missionary to Korea and authoress of "The Waiting People," and "In No One's Picket." Other speakers were the Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown, missionaries to Brazil. Conference Coordinator was Mrs. Wallace Avery.

The Derby Circle group are still selling paring knives, and steak knives.

Several Derby area residents attended the Songfest at the Lafayette United Methodist Church recently and enjoyed group singing and special numbers. Featured singers were the Landmarks Gospel Singers.

On Dec. 7 a special meeting will be held at the Church for all parents and interested adults to discuss strategy for a sound youth program.

Twenty-five Ohio high school seniors received awards Saturday for successful competition in Ohio University's 31st Annual American History Contest.

David Cain, 215 Pawnee Drive, a student at Logan Elm High School, placed eighth in the competition. He received a prize of $25.

Lisa Ryan, Lancaster, took first place in the competition. A senior at Lancaster High School, she was awarded $100 and a $990 full tuition scholarship to Ohio University, renewable for four years provided the required grade average is maintained.

The second place award of $75 and a one-year partial tuition scholarship to OU equal to $495 went to John Mullen, Westlake. He is a senior at St. Ignatius High School.

James Konuch, Lakewood, was the third prize winner, receiving $50 and a similar partial tuition scholarship equal to $495. He is a senior at Lakewood High School.

Fourth through seventh prize winners, who received $25 and similar one-year $495 scholarships, were — in order of standing — Christopher Klimko, of Athens; Gary Nogrady of Millfield; Mark Finlay, of Athens; and Gregory Mersol, Chagrin Falls. Klimko, Nogrady and Finlay are seniors at Athens High School. Mersol attends Kenston High School.

The winners were announced after an essay examination was given Friday at the Ohio University campus to approximately 190 finalists from among the 16,000 Ohio high school seniors who took a preliminary objective test in October.

Friday's essay test consisted of questions on the effects of several factors on the development of Massachusetts and Virginia between 1600 and 1763; anti-war sentiment in the four wars fought by the United States in the 19th century; and reasons for U.S. involvement in World War II.

Music Makes Nashville Different

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — It takes all of Page 400 in the yellow pages of the Nashville telephone book to list the music publishers.

Two major Nashville streets are Music Square East and Music Square West.

Boots Randolph plays his saxophone every night at a downtown night club bearing his name.

Nashville calls itself "Music City U.S.A." And without music, Nashville would be another Montgomery or Charlotte or Little Rock. In the word association test, "Nashville" is followed naturally by "music." The combination would make for a sure 10 points on the TV show "Password."

The aura is borne out by the musical linescore: 1,007 members of the Nashville Songwriters Association; 2,500 members of the American Federation of Music; Local 257; an estimated 2,000 song publishing companies and more than 30 recording studios.

The pulse of the Nashville music industry is Music Row — an explosion of guitars, denim and dreams. It's roughly a four-square block area near downtown that's made millionaires of a few and nobodies of many.

The first time you see it, you're disappointed. There are no skyscrapers, no intriguing architecture. It's mostly Victorian houses that have been renovated and effectively ensconce the celebrities.

Some of the business practices by the music industry defy traditional concepts. Many of the businesses have no signs. It's nearly impossible to find an office open before 9 a.m. because most songwriters and musicians do not work from 9 to 5. They write when inspired whether it's 2 p.m. or 2 a.m. It's not unusual to find a musician or songwriter who doesn't know what day it is. Their lives are not dictated by clocks and calendars.

But you'll find a dedication to profession matched by few others. Find a couple of musicians engaged in idle chatter or relaxing over beers and the topic usually is music — not football or television or politics. And everybody in the music business reads the trade publications. There's at least one in every office.

Big stars like Loretta Lynn and Ernest Tubb are constantly on the road doing concerts — prisoners of their shiny touring buses. They are closely identified with Nashville, but, ironically, spend less time in Music City than on the interstates.

Recording artists, unlike those in most other professions, must endure the twisting tides of success. A journeyman plumber doesn't have to worry about his skills deserting him. But a singer must constantly make sure that the records keep selling. Jeannie C. Riley, for instance, recorded the classic "Harper Valley P.T.A." in 1968 but has had no record approaching its success since.

So what's it like living in Nashville? Only Nashvillians can run into Johnny Cash at a movie, go to the same dentist as Dolly Parton and claim the same ZIP code as Waylon Jennings (37204).

And while most people drive an average of 500 miles to attend the Grand Ole Opry, Nashvillians have only to drive across town.

If you don't like Boots Randolph, you can choose from several other celebrities who have clubs. They include Webb Pierce, George Jones, Johnny Paycheck and The Four Guys.

And there's certainly no problem buying a musical instrument. The dealers devour Page 401 to Page 403 in the yellow pages.

There's no shortage of motels, either. There are 111 with 8,442 rooms. The motels, of course, mean there

17-Month-Old Son Decks Father

CLEVELAND (AP) — Seventeen-month-old James Bruening and his father were tickling each other when the father's jaw got in the way of his son's little fist.

As a result of the playful punch, Edward Bruening suffered a fractured jaw and had to undergo surgery for three hours Monday. His jaw has been wired shut for six weeks.

"Every morning he goes to wake his daddy up," said Mrs. Bruening of her 2½-foot, 23-pound son. "They were on the bed tickling each other. Both of them relaxed on the pillow for a moment, then Eddy tickled him again. Jamie came around with a quick right and hit him on the left side of the jaw."

About 10 minutes later, the 147-pound father could not hold a cigarette in his mouth. "Jamie looks like a little angel, with blond hair and blue eyes," his mother said. "He's just a tiny, little squirt."

are tourists, 6.8 million of them last year.

It's easy to get to Nashville because the city is penetrated on all sides by superhighways. Interstate 65 runs north-south, I-40 goes east-west and I-24 runs northwest-southeast.

Moreover, the Chamber of Commerce says Nashville is just three hours southeast of the center of population of the country.

All this means money for the city. Visitors spend $128.4 million annually.

For Nashville motorists, there are special problems. In London you beware of the fog. In Nashville you beware of the tour buses.

They scurry throughout Nashville like ambitious ants, carrying wide-eyed fans to the old Grand Ole Opry, to Pierce's home with a guitar-shaped swimming pool, and to Cash's lakeside home where wastepaper from camera film is often strewn along the road.

Minnie Pearl recently erected a barrier to keep the buses from turning around in her grass, although she said the vehicles are still welcome to drive by her home.

Says one of the ads: "Personalized — custom tours. DAILY. See Backstage at The Opry — Homes of The Stars — Music Row — Historical Sights — Many Other Attractions & Points of Interest. Experienced Opry Guides. SPECIAL GROUP RATES. Not Connected With Other Tours."

A Page Of Opinion

Trailing A Killer

What became as "Legionnaires' disease" because of 29 deaths following a Legion convention in Philadelphia in July, 1976, has turned into the discovery of a bacterium organism which may have been present in the environment all the time.

Recalling the rash of theories and scare stories which followed the unexplained illnesses and deaths, in the last year various agencies have spent millions of dollars investigating the cause of the outbreak. Once discarded as a possible cause, a pneumonia-causing bacterium finally was pinpointed as the culprit.

Identifying the cause made it easier to trace other cases. So far, more than 350 confirmed cases have been identified in 24 states. Seventy-five deaths have been attributed to the disease.

The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta spearheaded the search, which continues. Officials at the CDC still do not know the source of the organism or how it is transmitted. They have estimated that as many as 45,000 cases of "Legionnaires' disease" occur annually in the United States, resulting possibly in thousands of deaths.

In the course of discovering the lethal bacterium, researchers also have concluded there might be much more in the world of bacterial and viral infections they do not know. Research surrounding the field opened by this one agent could continue for years.

When Baseball Was Fun

By JIM BISHOP

Just before Casey Stengel retired, the grammarian snorted, "Baseball used to be fun. When I played third, and nobody was on, I used to field a grounder and throw it to second. Let him worry about it."

Baseball stopped being fun some time ago. Ring Lardner called it the ivory trade. Today it's capital gains. The players are rich and contentious. Many of them earn more than their managers. The rebuttal to a bawling out is, "Trade me."

Eddie Stanky invented the four-arm pitch. He stood on second base waving his arms up and down as his pitcher wound up. The batter saw four arms and knew that the pitch couldn't come from three of them.

The National League had to add a law against it. In 1890, the Baltimore Orioles devised the "safety ball." The outfielders planted three balls in the grass near each position. If an enemy batter hit one over an outfielder's head, he picked up the "safety ball" and tossed it to second.

This held the runner on first. I don't go that far back in baseball, but Stan and Shirley Fischler do in their book "The Best, Worst and Most Unusual in Sports." One day a batter hit one to left center. The left fielder picked up a "safety ball" and threw it to second.

The center fielder kept chasing the real ball. He trapped it and tossed it to second. The umpire thought he had double vision. Baltimore lost the game by forfeit.

Nobody could hit foul balls like Luke Appling of the White Sox. Once, when the White Sox played the Yankees at the stadium, the New York Management refused to give Appling two free tickets. Luke knew the home team paid for the baseballs. So, in batting practice, he fouled a gross into the stands.

The Sox had two on one day when Appling came to bat. Red Ruffing, a good hitting pitcher and a man who had eight toes, blazed two fast strikes past Luke. This irritated Appling, so he fouled the next six into the stands. With two out, Red was sweating.

Ruffing threw a wide one that Luke ignored. Eventually, the count was three and two. Red began to toss one strike after another. Appling fouled 14 straight. Furious, Ruffing threw one so wide that the catcher fell on it.

Appling walked. Ruffing was out of his mind when Mike Kreevich came to bat. Kreevich saw one coming down the pipe and wacked it for a double and two runs. Appling stopped at third. Ruffing ran over, saliva dripping from his chin, shrieking, "You did it! You did it with those bleepin' foul balls!"

No team was funnier than the old Dodgers. The standard joke when Uncle Wilbert Robinson ran the team concerned a fan high on the last row of seats and a cab driver below. "Who's at bat?" "Dodgers." "Anybody on?" "Three." "Which base?"

Babe Herman was big stick, no field. They say he caught balls in the outfield off his forehead. Brooklyn was playing Pittsburgh and Uncle Wilbert put a rookie in to pitch. The best you could say for the kid was that he had a haircut.

The first batter hit a pitch and it caromed off the corrugated tin in the outfield. Herman fielded it as though he was chasing a drunken butterfly. The second batter hit it off the corrugated tin with the same explosive sound.

Pittsburgh couldn't hit anything except successive doubles. Uncle Wilbert waddled out to the mound and said, "That'll be all today, sonny." The kid balked. "Where the hell were you when I was takin' the shelling? I'm staying." Now this was an unusual situation, even for Brooklyn.

Robinson thought about it. Babe Herman laid out on the grass in the outfield and pulled his cap over his eyes. "Kid," the manager said, "if you don't get off the mound, I'm going to call the park cops. You don't wanna see that in the papers, right?"

The kid thought it over. Before he walked into the dugout, he turned and threw the ball as hard as he could to the outfield. It was just an expression of outrage. However, it hit the corrugated tin fence and Babe Herman came off the grass flying.

He thought the shelling had started again. He played it off the tin and tossed to second. Uncle Wilbert shook his head sadly. "Best throw he made all season," he murmured.

It was Billy Loes who was asked why he never won 20 games. "Why should I?" said the pitcher. "If you do it one year they want you to do it every year..."

Arabia To Pressure U.S. To Supply Arms To Somalia

CAIRO (AP) — Saudi Arabia is expected to renew pressure on the United States to become Somalia's major arms supplier following the Somali's break with Moscow.

The decision by the Marxist regime in Mogadishu to bar the Soviet navy from the two Somali ports it had been using and expel Soviet military and technical experts in the East African country was a victory for Saudi petrodollar diplomacy even though it was provoked by the Soviets themselves.

For years, the Saudis had been dangling the prospect of large-scale aid before President Mohammed Siad Barre if he would move out of the Soviet orbit. But Barre stuck with the Kremlin until it began pouring arms into Ethiopia while denying them to Somalia in an attempt to end Somali support of the rebels fighting to join the Ogaden region of southeast Ethiopia to Somalia.

As Soviet supplies to Somalia stopped arriving, the Saudis loosened their purse strings. Saudi aid to Somalia this year reportedly totals some $200 million, and after Sunday's break more can be expected.

Saudi Arabia, Egypt, Iraq and Iran have been reported sending light arms to Somalia to help the Ogaden rebels fight the Ethiopian regime. Now, diplomatic sources said, Saudi Arabia is expected to renew its campaign to persuade Washington to supply Somalia with heavy arms which oil money would pay for.

This has been a Saudi goal for at least three years, since the Saudi government was shown satellite photographs of Soviet missile stockpiles in Somalia.

James Akins, a former U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia, testified before a congressional committee that the Saudis during the Ford administration were willing to finance the sale of U.S. weapons to Somalia. Akins said the proposal was rejected by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Last July, the United States, Britain and France said they were willing to sell defensive arms to the Somalis. But they withdrew the offer when the fighters in the Ogaden began to use tanks and planes.

The State Department on Monday praised Somalia's anti-Soviet action but said the United States still would not sell arms to the country. A spokesman said the Carter administration continues to believe that "African problems should be solved by Africans themselves."

Couple Pleads Guilty To Sex Charges

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leon and Barbara Kiseberth have pleaded guilty to sexual misconduct against children, but 39 other charges were dropped under a plea-bargaining agreement.

The 33-year-old Kiseberth pleaded guilty Monday to five counts of raping minors. His 26-year-old wife pleaded guilty to four counts of gross sexual imposition and one count of possessing a criminal tool.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge Frederick Coleman delayed formal sentencing, referring Mrs. Kiseberth to the probation department for a report and Kiseberth to the psychiatric department for examinations. Their trial began this week but a jury was not impaneled.

As part of plea-bargaining agreement, Kiseberth agreed to accept the maximum sentence of seven to 25 years in prison for each of the five rape charges.

The Cleveland westside couple was arrested June 1 in a raid in which police said they confiscated movies and photographic albums from their home showing children engaged in sex acts.

An earlier trial ended when the court ordered more psychiatric examinations to determine Kiseberth's competence to stand trial.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 16, the 320th day of 1977. There are 45 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1933, the United States and the Soviet Union established diplomatic relations.

On this date:

In 1532, Spanish explorer Francisco Pizarro took as a prisoner the last Inca ruler in Peru, Atahualpa. The Indian leader later was condemned to death for refusing to become a Christian and was strangled.

In 1907, Oklahoma became the 46th state.

In 1933, President Getulio Vargas of Brazil assumed dictatorial powers.

In 1941, in World War II, German troops launched a second attack against Moscow.

In 1944, six Allied armies began a big offensive drive in France, Germany and the Netherlands.

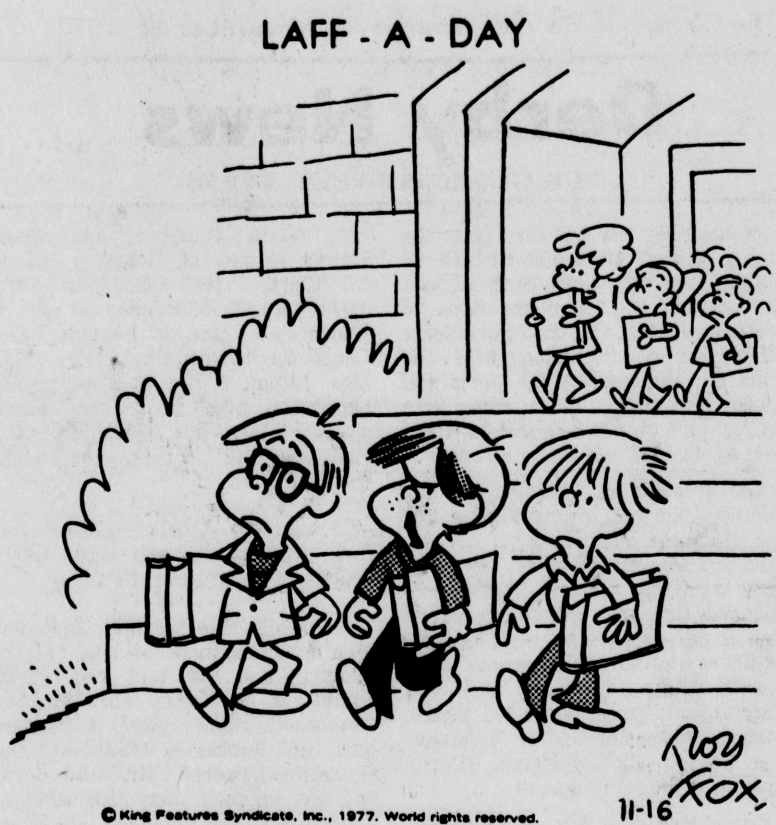

Ten years ago: Sixty-three U.S. locations were selected for the federal model cities program to help cope with the deterioration of American cities.

Five years ago: A critic of President Richard Nixon's civil rights record, the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, was dismissed as chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

One year ago: The Ford administration approved an emergency loan of $300,000 to bolster the new government in Portugal.

Today's birthdays: Actor Burgess Meredith is 68 years old. The first Indian to have been named U.S. commissioner of Indian affairs, Robert Bennett, is 65.

Thought for today: Choose your wife, not at a dance, but in the harvest field — Czechoslovak saying.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have insomnia. I've tried everything to get a decent night's sleep. Sleeping pills and tranquilizers leave me fatigued in the morning and "dopey" all day. Many of my friends complain of insomnia, too. I've tried their pills. They're no better than mine. What can I do about this? Don't tell me to try the warm milk routine. I've been through that, too.

Miss R.L., Pa.

Doctors are constantly being bombarded with the complaint of insomnia.

"I can't sleep a wink." "I never close my eyes." "I don't fall asleep until the sun comes up." These are all familiar comments, usually coming from people who look remarkably healthy and fresh. More often than not, they've had far more sleep than they think.

Many people take it as a personal insult if they don't fall asleep as soon as their heads hit the pillow. The slightest delay increases their anxiety and they make a beeline for the barbiturates, the tranquilizers, the anti-anxiety and any other pill that's on the "trial run" list.

The hectic pace of today's living, with its pressures and deadlines, puts the body and mind on a treadmill of activity which does not always lend itself to the kind of relaxation that can induce sleep.

The fixed idea that a certain number of hours of sleep is essential can produce anxiety about the urgency for sleep. Actually, there is wide variation in the number of hours of sleep that is compatible with good health. For some people, five hours of sleep is sufficient. For others, even eight hours are barely enough to mobilize muscles to meet the oncoming challenge of a new day. It should be remembered too, that sleep patterns change from decade to decade. One's need at 21 is different from one's need at 60.

There are no easy answers to insomnia, but some causes must be considered. Overfatigue, heavy dinners, inadequate ventilation in the room or poor temperature regulation can interfere with sleep.

Stimulating drugs, even ordinary nose drops, thyroid tablets, diet pills and other drugs can effect sleep. Coffee can be a threat to sleep. Many people find tea just as stimulating. Others find sleep difficult after overindulgence in tobacco and alcohol.

Sleeping pills and tranquilizers are not the answer. They do not solve the problem of insomnia. Dependence on them gets progressively more marked, and while you're taking them, there is total neglect of the real causes responsible for your insomnia.

In the absence of any basic physical illness, other avenues must be pursued. The art of leisure and relaxation is not always easy to acquire. There are an infinite number of old and new techniques that can induce pre-sleep relaxation. These include meditation, self-hypnosis and bio-feedback, all available under supervision.

Psychological guidance very often can give one a better insight into the reasons for the inner turbulence that interferes with sleep.

Supreme Court Keeps Suit Against Army Alive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allen Aaron Jackson was a 21-year-old Army recruit in 1974 when a tank cut him in half, severing both legs and leaving the kidneys and bladder as the only organs intact below his navel.

Jackson survived and now wants $5 million. He says the Army should be forced to pay him because he never should have been near that tank.

The Supreme Court kept alive Jackson's hopes of winning his lawsuit when it sent his case back to the U.S. Court of Claims on Monday. That court previously had dismissed the suit after apparently making a factual error in its deliberations.

"We were both surprised and delighted to hear about the court's action," said one of Jackson's lawyers. The ex-soldier is being represented by the prestigious San Francisco law firm headed by Melvin Belli.

Jackson, now 24 and a Chicago resident, signed up with the Army intent on learning a trade. He signed a contract in which the Army pledged to give him at least 16 months of mechanical training so he could go into the service station or car repair business after a three-year hitch.

Jackson's suit claims he was promised that his specialized training would begin as soon as he finished basic training, but his first assignment was to a tank division.

Disgruntled by what he considered a breach of contract, Jackson requested and had scheduled a May 20, 1974, meeting with superior officers to discuss the matter. The meeting was never held.

The tank division's commander ordered that Jackson postpone the meeting to go out on maneuvers. It was during those exercises that the tank ran over him.

The Supreme Court told the claims court Monday that its finding that Jackson had not completed basic training when the accident occurred was apparently wrong and that the lower court should study again whether he is entitled to damages from the Army.

Project Sit-In Tried At Pickerington

The Circleville Herald, Wednesday November 16, 1977 5

PICKERINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Marc Johnston, 17, skipped school Tuesday and went hunting with two friends, but it was OK.

Dick Ball, his principal at Pickerington Middle-Senior School, approved. In fact it was Ball's idea. Marc's mother, Jean, sat in for him. Ball has 83 parents signed up to sit in one day this week for their children at the school. He calls it "Project Sit-In."

"We want to get parents more involved in school," Ball said. "Open houses give them an artificial view because they take place while the kids are not normally in school.

"We just felt parents should see school occurring as it is."

Mrs. Johnston, 40, said it was fascinating.

"I didn't ride the bus but I drove to school in time for his 7:10 a.m. class," she said. She made notes on classroom discussions and on the next assignments in Marc's classes that included algebra, English, history, and Perspective on Death.

"There isn't much different than when I was in school," she said. "The main problem was with what I had forgotten."

"The most interesting class was the Perspective on Death. We talked about how people feel and think."

Glenda England, 35, appeared to concentrate more than the 17 teenagers with her in Robert Schlabach's algebra class. She has four children, two in high school.

"I'm very pleased with the idea," she said between algebra and English classes. "I get to see what they do in school, observe how they teach. I think it is a good idea for all parents."

Mrs. England graduated from high school and a business school in her native Oklahoma City, Okla., and said her biggest problem this day was a Spanish class.

"It's been so long and I've forgotten so much," she said. "Education is a lot different now. It's more advanced."

Ball read of the idea while in graduate school five years ago.

"I hope we are breaking down some barriers for education," he said. "I hope we accomplish bringing the moms and dads up to date on the curriculum."

"Algebra I, for example, is the same name as the algebra they had in high school but the content is different."

"A lot of the parents never heard of 'sets' of figures and the kids think it's so simple. But after this, those that come to school may know more of what their kids are talking about."

Kathy Robson, 16 and a junior, said her mother, Judy, would attend her classes later this week.

"But I'll have to stay at home and clean house for her," she said. "I'll have to cook breakfast for my dad and brother and get them off to school and work."

"Mom will get the idea of what goes on at school. She'll know how easy it is to get in trouble if you're late for a class."

The next meeting will be Dec. 8 and at this time the Pledge Service will be held. All Thank Offering boxes are to be turned in and Prayer Secret Pals will be revealed.

Bobby Toole presented the program for the evening. He told of his work with the Pickaway County Senior Citizens, of the many services that are provided for the Senior Citizens of the county. Some of the services provided are transportation to the Social Security Office in Chillicothe, coming to the aid of an older person when someone doing work for them overcharges them, helping to fill out various forms of paper work. He also told of the Senior Center, of the many activities there, the making of crafts, etc.

It turned out to be a very interesting program with many questions being asked, especially about the recent sign-up for reduction of utilities for senior citizens and the permanently disabled.

Federated Plans To Build Tower

CINCINNATI (AP) — Officials of Federated Department Stores Inc. have announced plans to build a $30 million office tower to house their company headquarters.

Ralph Lazarus, board chairman, said Federated had been running a "nearly $5 billion" business from two floors of a building here and that it had become too crowded.

The 21-story tower will have the shape of a triangle with its tip cut off, company officials said Monday.

Construction will begin shortly after Jan. 1 and should be completed in early summer of 1979 — in time to celebrate the company's 50th anniversary.

The $30 million price tag includes construction, decorating the new office space and charring around the present headquarters, the board chairman said.

The present headquarters will be utilized as a computer center for The department store chain.

Lazarus noted that the company was keeping a commitment to the urban area by building at the downtown location.

"We are, of course, not blind to the problems which afflict urban America," Lazarus said. "They are very real problems, but we believe that they can and will be overcome. If we did not believe this, we would not be working as hard as we are to help restore and revitalize the total quality of life in those cities in which we have an interest."

Federated Department Stores include Bloomingdale's, New York; Bullock's, in Los Angeles; and I. Magnin, San Francisco; Shillitos, Cincinnati; and Lazarus, in Columbus.

Mosaic

GLENDAL, Ariz. (AP) — Sixth-graders at Pioneer School have fashioned a mosaic made from assorted beans and seeds in a term-long project.

The students spent about 3,000 hours on their work of art. As the first "graduating" class from the new school the 80 pupils wanted to leave behind a unique remembrance.

They used some 16 pounds of pinto beans, popcorn, lentils, black and red beans, sunflower seeds and cotton seeds.

The 8-by-4-foot mosaic, featuring a thunderbird designed by Burke Snow, 12, was preserved with a coat of hard glue.

Chris Shaw and family and Miss Brenda Adams to their home on Fourth Street to share young Jason's birthday cake and ice cream. He is two years old.

Some Senior Citizens Refusing Aid Because Of Welfare Stigma

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — At least some of Ohio's senior citizens are reluctant to accept state government help for fear it brings with it the stigma of being "on welfare."

Martin W. Janis, director of the Ohio Commission on Aging, and other officials say the reluctance has been evidenced in separate federal and state programs to extend assistance on skyrocketing utility bills.

Most recently, the state didn't get the response anticipated on a new program in which the state will provide 25 percent discounts during winter months on heating bills of the elderly and handicapped with incomes of $7,000 a year or less.

Last summer, the federal government provided a $13 million grant to help the elderly with utility bills still in arrears from last winter. Not all of the grant was used.

Janis said he was convinced that the federal program was rejected because in some instances, the elderly didn't want to go to county welfare offices where applications were required.

"These citizens have paid taxes all their lives, and they should not feel that it's any kind of a handout," Janis said.

When the legislature enacted the state "lifeline" program — believed to be the first among the states — Ohio made about $40 million available to help with heating bills starting next month and continuing until April.

The legislature provided that renters in the qualifying categories would apply for discounts with the taxation department — deliberately avoiding a welfare department tie-in. However,

Middletown Recognized

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Downtown development in this southwest Ohio city has won recognition in a national competition.

The city's "Revitalized Downtown" entry in the First Downtown Development Awards Competition in New York City was selected Monday as first award winner in its population category.

The Downtown Research and Development Center — sponsor of the award — notified Middletown Chamber of Commerce officials that their entry was unanimously selected for first place in the 25,000 to 75,000 population group.

There were five population divisions in the competition.

The local entry outlined progress made in the 300-acre downtown area over the last 16 years. Included in the entry was detailed information about the new Centre Mart, parking garage, city center plaza, and housing projects in the area.

Low Score On Food Survey

NUTLEY, N.J. (AP) — Two recent national surveys — one by a government agency, and another by a drug manufacturer — show that Americans are ill-informed about food and nutrition, including vitamins.

The FDA Consumer Nutrition Survey (of 1975) shows that 51 percent of Americans are "not well-informed" about food and nutrition.

A second survey, by Hoffman-La Roche Inc., taken in the latter part of 1976, shows that while people understand nutrition is important, they lack specific nutrition information about food and vitamins, necessary for selecting a balanced diet.

late last week, only about 50,000 of an estimated 200,000 eligibles had applied.

An original deadline of Nov. 15 for the applications was extended until Nov. 30.

Robert J. Scholl a department official helping implement the program, said he thought feared implications of welfare was a factor in the lack of response.

Other state officials said that while there has been wide acceptance among senior citizens for the "Golden Buckeye" card program, under which participating merchants give senior citizens discounts, many don't want to participate.

The cards have not been viewed with great enthusiasm by everyone in the legislature. Some say the program is too broadly drawn to benefit only those in need.

Veteran Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-Bryan, opposed a bill broadening the card program, saying, in effect, that the ranks of senior citizens aren't free of skulduggery.

Husband Says Cut Out Business Trips

DEAR ABBY: I've been married less than a month and my husband has already given me an ultimatum. If I go on any overnight business trips with the professional group I belong to, we are finished! Abby, this is my third marriage, and I want it to be my last.

I am a professional woman and I've gone to these meetings for years. I am not going to give them up just because my husband feels threatened.

I made the mistake of telling him about a couple of flings I had on these trips, but that was long before I knew him. I swear I have no interest in any other man!

He won't believe me. He is an absolute nut on the subject! I'm 38, and don't need any extracurricular flings.

How can I convince this nut I'm married to that he can trust me out of town?

NOT GIVING IN

DEAR NOT: You should have settled this with your "nut" before you tied the knot. If you invite him to go along on the trips, he may feel less threatened. If that doesn't work, you will have to choose between your nut and your business trips.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's boss wants to transfer us to a bigger city about 500 miles from here. It has more advantages for our children and would mean a big promotion for my husband, but every time I think of moving, I burst into tears. I've even put off going there to look for a place to live because I hate the thought of leaving this town.

I've lived here all my life. My family lives here. Our children's friends are here. And we have just built a lovely home. I know I sound selfish, but I can't help it. My husband wants to move. If I need a good lecture, let me have it.

HATES TO MOVE

DEAR HATES: You rattled the right cage. If a man is to succeed in business, his greatest asset is a wife who is always in his corner. Let him accept the promotion. You and your children will make new friends. Help your husband climb the ladder of success by being supportive, and you will have another lovely home that is "Jack" built.

DEAR ABBY: I've just had the biggest slapdown in my life. My insurance company has disallowed the prosthesis I bought for the mastectomy I had four years.

It's not a case of vanity or replacing a piece of female equipment. It's a case of restoring equilibrium. Without proper balance, a woman cannot walk straight. Also, her neck and shoulders ache from the lopsidedness.

Those little pads and "falsies" from the department store don't work. At my son's wedding, I was dancing and having a marvelous time, when my sister caught my eye and whispered urgently in my ear, "Please go to the ladies' room and check your falsie!" It had worked its way up to my shoulder.!

After that, I phoned my local American Cancer Society to find out where to get a properly fitting prosthesis. Just two days after that, my neck and shoulder pain disappeared. And it feels so good and looks so natural.

Abby if you print this, may be some bright insurance executive will see it and realize that such a prosthesis is not simply cosmetic. It's vital to the health of a woman who has had a mastectomy.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: Here's your letter. Insurance executives?

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 69700, L.A. Calif., 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

'Reggie, Reggie, Reggie' Ingredients Leaked Out

CHICAGO (AP) — Double double, boil and trouble: the secret ingredients of the "Reggie, Reggie, Reggie" candy bar have leaked out of the pressure-tight cauldrons of the high security kitchens here at Standard Brands.

The lid was on for competitive reasons in the cavity industry because no ballplayer has been memorialized on a candy wrapper since the Baby Ruth bar came on the market decades ago in tribute to Ruth Cleveland, winsome daughter of President Grover Cleveland, who batted .286 (about the same as Reggie) in the old Potomac Little League.

It's no secret that the little ole lozenge makers put in many a bittersweet month over their Bunsen burners and steaming saucepans trying to boil up a candy confection that would suggest at first bite the essential Reggie Jackson.

They knew from consumer studies done in the Yankee dugout that, tastebudwise, Reggie never could be confused with Mr. Goodbar or Chuckles or Candy Kisses. Suggestions came from the vicinity of the water cooler that something on the order of a Snicker might be more appropriate, but that was before the titular bon bon hit those three home runs in the final World Series game.

Now it can be revealed, thanks to the treachery of an embittered ladle stirrer in the syrup shed, that the Reggie, Reggie, Reggie bar is encased in rich mocha chocolate whipped up into peaks and mounds and hillocks. These represent the ethnic barriers, the mountains of bias that the Philadelphia tailor's son has had to cross on his way to greatness.

Next comes a layer of taffy and fudge, symbolic of the give and take at contract time with George Steinbrenner and the Yankee front office.

There are no peanuts in the Reggie, Reggie, Reggie bar. No presidential slight is intended here, but Reggie Jackson just doesn't work for peanuts.

Near the center of this toothsome masterpiece are bite-sized bits of licorice, emblematic of the dark double knits on the plate umpires, which Reggie chews up when questioning a strike call.

Thin stripe of molasses suggests the dignified manner in which the great

Wolfe Named To Mental Health Panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Wolfe, president of RadiOhio, Inc., and director of the Dispatch Printing Co., was appointed to the Joint Mental Health and Mental Retardation Advisory and Review Commission Tuesday.

Wolfe's appointment was one of several announced by Gov. James A. Rhodes. The Columbus executive will fill an unexpired term on the commission running to June 1978.

Other appointments were: Dr. Levester Cannon, Columbus, to the Developmental Disabilities State Planning Council, and Dr. John P. Sevastos, Cleveland Heights, to the Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine Advisory Board. Reappointed to the Osteopathic Advisory board were Jody Galbreath Phillips, Upper Arlington, and Daniel J. Lloyd, Athens.

man approaches a fly ball, a few cordial cherries in sour syrup evokes his relationship with manager Billy Martin and a streak of rum butter, lightly whipped, provides the tangy flavor of lazy winter afternoons in the off-season Puerto Rican league.

But down deep at the core of the Reggie, Reggie, Reggie bar is a soft and gooey center of rich marshmallow, capturing the quintessential Jackson, the man who gives away Thunderbird cars to sweet charity, the way John D. Rockefeller used to hand out dimes.

The whole is topped off with a sprinkling of crushed nuts, a rueful reminder of the brand of bleacherites generic to Yankee Stadium, especially the oafs who toss the beer bottles and firecrackers and the one who hung from the scoreboard with his breeches at half mast in the second Series game.

Confected at great expense and wrapped in the pencil striped regimentals of the New York Yankees, the Reggie, Reggie, Reggie bar is a

Cold Front Slices Across Midwest

By The Associated Press
A cold front sliced across the nation's midsection today, triggering thundershowers in the South and Midwest and snow in northern Minnesota.
In California, moist sea breezes replaced hot, dry, 20-40 mph desert winds as firefighters tried to douse a raging brush fire that had burned about 3½ square miles west of downtown Los Angeles by early today.
The blaze was stalemated in a canyon three miles from expensive beachfront homes, but officials warned the "fire's still out of control." They said they expected humidity to drop below 30 percent again today, a level considered an extreme fire danger.
Scattered thundershowers were reported in eastern Oklahoma and

Motor Vehicle Taxes Are Distributed

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported today the sixth advance distribution of motor vehicle registration taxes for the 1977 year totaling $5,007,885.79.

Pickaway County will receive $9,423.97. Under the complicated formula by which motor vehicle license money is apportioned to the local political subdivisions, the counties received most of the funds, Ferguson said. The distribution of license fees is based primarily on a formula involving the number of motor vehicles registered within a county or municipality. The big county-small county equalization factor together with the number of county and township road miles determine distribution.

The decibel is an arbitrary unit of measure of sound pressure or power. It is equivalent to one-tenth of a bel, a dimensionless unit named for Alexander Graham Bell, who invented the telephone.

Unemployment Benefits To Be Extended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Faced with a Dec. 31 deadline, the House was expected to vote later this week on legislation extending unemployment benefits to domestic workers, substitute teachers, non-public school employees and others.

In addition, pregnancy would no longer be a valid reason for disqualification from benefits.

The Senate approved the measure 29-0 Tuesday and returned it to the House for concurrence on an emergency clause, guaranteeing immediate enactment if it is signed by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Changes in state law were mandated by 1976 amendments to the federal unemployment law and compliance is required by the end of the year.

The state unemployment bill sponsored by Rep. Leonard Camera, D-Lorain, would grant coverage to domestic workers in private homes and at college fraternities and sororities, when at least $1,000 for their services is paid in a calendar year.

Agricultural workers could collect when they lose jobs at farms with an annual cash payroll of at least $20,000, or when at least 10 hands are employed for 20 weeks in a year.

Coverage would also be extended to non-classified public employees, with the exception of elected officials, judges, officials in major policy making positions, such as the governor's cabinet, and members of the national guard.

Employers contributing to the unemployment fund face an increase in their taxable wage base — the percentage of annual payroll paid into the fund — from the first $4,200 paid to each employee annually, to the first $6,000.

MOUNDBUILDERS — The Circleville Kiwanis Mound-builders had as their guest Tuesday morning Ed Wiseman (left), of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, who showed a film and answered questions about the Alaskan Pipeline. Wiseman was introduced by club secretary, Larry Lewis.

18 The Circleville Herald,
Wednesday November 16, 1977

AP Seer Says Michigan

NEW YORK (AP) — Baylor over Texas ... Air Force over Notre Dame ... Southern Methodist over Arkansas ... Colorado State over Arizona State ... San Diego State over Florida State ... Texas Christian over Texas A&M ... South Carolina over Clemson ... Houston over Texas Tech ... Duke over North Carolina ... and Washington State over Washington.

Had enough upsets for one week? Well, this corner has decided that all those stunner will actually come about this weekend as well-deserved punishment for the bowl committees, which have been playing a little hanky-panky in advance of Saturday's official invitation date.

More about that later. First, let's turn to the Ohio State-Michigan shootout. The only upset here would be if any other team won the Big Ten title.

These bitter rivals have wound up the regular season against each other every year since 1935 and their annual showdown has decided the Big Ten crown in nine of the past 10 years.

"It's pretty close to the elbow," says Ohio State's Woody Hayes. "Both teams usually have good defenses. This year is no exception. It could be a very tight game, whether or not it's low-scoring."

Michigan 21, Ohio State 17. Last week's record was 53 right, 16 wrong and two ties for a .768 percentage, including the Upset Special, Washington over Southern California, and the exact score of Ohio State's 35-7 triumph over Indiana. For the season, it's 507-201-15 — .716.

Now for the upsets:
Baylor at Texas: The Cotton Bowl is counting on getting Notre Dame to face No. 1-ranked Texas, but what happens if the Longhorns get bumped off? Wait and see ... Baylor 20-16.

Air Force at Notre Dame: Notre Dame wanted the Cotton and Sugar Bowls to wait until Nov. 26. They wouldn't. The Sugar told Notre Dame it had to have an answer by Tuesday. Notre Dame said no thanks. So we say ... Air Force 27-24.

Southern Methodist at Arkansas: Arkansas wanted the Orange Bowl. The Orange Bowl wanted Penn State. The Fiesta Bowl jumped at Arkansas. Southern Methodist jumps ON Arkansas ... SMU 28-20.

Illinois at Northwestern: It would be a shame for John Pont to end his Northwestern coaching career with an 0-11 record ... Northwestern 28-24.

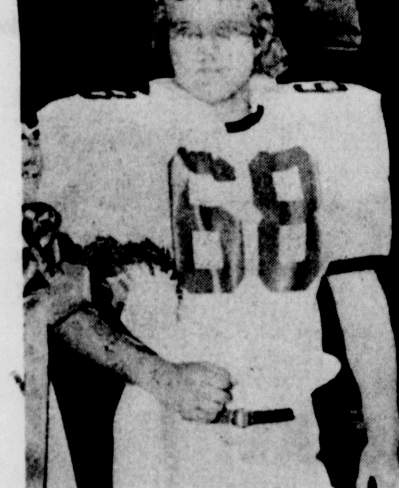

In other games, Colorado State over Arizona State 28-20; San Diego State over Florida State 34-28; Texas Christian over Texas A&M 22-17; South Carolina over Clemson 19-12; Houston over Texas Tech 30-24; Duke over North Carolina 33-24; Washington State over Washington 35-31; Kentucky over Tennessee 27-13; Colgate over Delaware 35-24.

Midwest—Ball State 24, Eastern Michigan 21; Central Michigan 28, Western Michigan 21; Colorado 38, Kansas State 14; Indiana 26, Purdue 19; Michigan State 24, Iowa 21; Oklahoma State 33, Iowa State 24; Missouri 27, Kansas 13; Minnesota 30, Wisconsin 10; Northern Illinois 21, Ohio U. 14; Southern Illinois 23, Drake 20; Kent State 32, Toledo 21; Wichita State 29, Memphis State 22.

Walton Leads Portland To Victory Over Bucks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Walton stopped passing and started shooting and Portland won. Pete Maravich kept on passing and New Orleans lost.

"I made a lot of stupid plays passing the ball," said Walton. "At one stretch

ALL DISTRICT — Gary Weaver, Logan Elm, was named to a second team offensive guard berth on the Class AA Central District football team. There was a mix up in the players pictures in yesterday's paper and Gary's picture was inadvertently omitted.

Swimmers Place In Invitational

Local swimmers, members of the Chillicothe Marlin Swim Team participated Saturday in a six team invitational swim meet at the Chillicothe YMCA.

Winning a first for the 13-14 boys in 100-yard breaststroke was Jay Baehr. In the eight and under boys, John Slack placed fourth in the 25-yard backstroke, and a fourth in 25-yard freestyle.

The 11-12 girls, placed Valerie Slack second in the 5-yard butterfly and a fifth in the 100-yard individual medley. Erinne Liggett placed fifth in the 50-yard butterfly.

Placing for the 13-14 girls was Norma Moore with a fifth in 50-yard freestyle and a second in 100-yard butterfly.

In the 13-14 boys, Mike Thomas placed third in the 100-yard backstroke and sixth in the 100-yard freestyle. Tom Beck placed second in 100-yard butterfly. Lance Bickel won a fourth in the 50-yard freestyle and a second in the 100-yard freestyle.

Cindy Sparks won a second in the 15-18 girls 100-yard butterfly.

The Marlins won the meet with a total of 519.5 points. Other teams present for the meet were Lancaster, Columbus Hilltop, Portsmouth, Zanesville and Newark.

The Marlins are preparing for their next league dual meet when they travel to Portsmouth for a meet on Saturday.

I made four straight passes to the other team."

So Walton decided he'd better start taking his shots and wound up scoring 32 points as the Trail Blazers beat the Milwaukee Bucks 109-106 Tuesday night to become the first National Basketball Association team with 10 victories. The defending champions lead the Pacific Division with a 10-2 mark.

Walton, who scored his season high, hit from the top of the key to give the defending National Basketball Association champions a 107-104 lead with 1:07 to go. After Dave Meyers cut the lead to a basket with a tip-in, Walton responded with a hook shot with 36 seconds left for the final margin.

Maravich, meanwhile, was guarded extra closely by New York's Jim Clemons all night long and went 4-for-20, scoring just 11 points as the Jazz was beaten by the Knicks 106-105. Maravich, the NBA's reigning scoring king, had only 2 points in the second half and did not attempt a shot in the fourth quarter, when the game was up for grabs.

In other NBA games, the Indiana Pacers edged the Buffalo Braves 100-94, the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Atlanta Hawks 114-93, the Washington Bullets trimmed the Seattle SuperSonics 111-109, the San Antonio Spurs defeated the Kansas City Kings 113-107, the Denver Nuggets beat the Detroit Pistons 123-113 and the Cleveland Cavaliers topped the Los Angeles Lakers 102-95 in overtime.

76ers 114, Hawks 93
Atlanta disappointed a sellout crowd at the Omni by suffering its third loss in a row after jumping off to an 8-1 start. "We can't cancel the next 70 games," reasoned Hawks Coach Hubie Brown, "so we have to regroup."

Pacers 100, Braves 94
Ricky Sobers scored 23 points, including a key three-point play in the last two minutes, as Indiana snapped a six-game losing streak with its first road victory of the season.

Spurs 113, Kings 107
Larry Kenon scored 11 of his game-high 23 points in a 32point third period that enabled San Antonio to pull away to its fourth straight victory. George Gervin, the NBA's third leading scorer, added 19 for the Spurs, eight below his average.

Bullets 111, Sonics 100
Elvin Hayes scored 22 points and reserve guard Kevin Grevey added 20 for Washington, which handed Seattle its 11th loss in 15 games.

Cavaliers 102, Lakers 95, OT
Cleveland erased an eight-point deficit and sent the game into overtime on John Lambert's basket with 33 seconds left, then Campy Russell snapped an 89-89 tie as the Cavs went on to raise their record to 9-3.

Nuggets 123, Pistons 113
Denver raised its home-court record to 7-4 behind David Thompson's 33 points and Dan Issel's 24, including 10 in the final period.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In 1966, Edwin O'Connor wrote a fine novel, "The Last Hurrah." Based on Boston politics, it concerned the final campaign of a droll old Irish rogue of a mayor, Frank Skeffington.

Tonight, a made-for-NBC version of it starts the 27th season of "Hallmark Hall of Fame." Carroll O'Connor, no relation to the novelist, stars as the mayor. He also wrote the script.

Since he's of Irish heritage, attended college in Dublin and acted three years at the Dublin Gate Theater, he seemed a happy choice to write the show and act the part of the good mayor.

Alas, O'Connor seems to have been writing with the governor on. His script has little of the Irish sense of fun, little of what the Irish call "good crack," or lively banter.

While everything's done in good taste, there's a minimum of toora loora tomfoolery. A pity. The show emerges with scarcely more zip than an Englishman defending the virtues of kidney pie.

The only grade-A banter occurs at a wake, as two of Skeffington's city hall acolytes inspect the remains of an ex-pal and partner of the mayor. One says the deceased, a bad drunk, looks swell now.

"Yeah," the other murmurs, "the mean look is gone."

O'Connor, who plays the mayor as an unusually subdued, low-key politico with little of the original's dry wit, also has taken certain liberties with the plot of the book.

No longer is Skeffington a confirmed widower. He now has been conducting a long, illicit love affair with a writer lady of noble birth. She drifts in and out of scenes, scolding or supporting him.

And there's the problem of the mayor's son. In the book, he was a handsome, amiable dolt of a lawyer, a bachelor playboy about whom the mayor once sighed: "I've sired a featherhead."

Here, the son is married, idealistic, smart and alienated from his father because Pop was unfaithful to Mom, spent more time on politics than the family, and was no good for the city, to boot.

In time, all this is resolved and the son (Patrick Wayne) goes campaigning with his father. But not before some tiresome preludes that include a not-in-the-book murder that could cause scandal.

Things perk up occasionally, as during Skeffington's showdown with a banker (Patrick O'Neal) leading a GOP charge against him, and a Catholic cardinal (Burgess Meredith) opposing him on moral grounds.

But such moments are few. The movie, directed by Vincent Sherman, seems oddly listless, with the human juices of oldstyle, big-city politics slowed to a trickle.

During the celebration of the Chinese lunar new year, it is customary to prepare and eat "yuan hsiao," round dumplings that symbolize the moon and family reunions, both of great importance in Chinese tradition.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Old routines may prove more effective than certain new ones which may be suggested. However, be an astute judge - considering every factor, angle, clue.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Start out on your own power, build up momentum, and you can make your own "breaks." A new turn of events should not deter you from following through on your program.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may receive helpful backing in a business venture from persons you were not counting on. Gains also indicated through correspondence.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Good aspects. Do not become involved in the confusion prevalent in certain areas. Stride forward with a firm, steady step toward sound objectives.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid present tendencies to scatter energies and to start too many things at one time. Recognize a need for changes in plans previously considered perfect.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Avoid emotionalism. You may be opposed, but you have been before and succeeded where you had to. Seek wise counsel when stymied.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Neither renege on promises nor attempt too much. Both extremes are likely now. Accept only what better sense recognizes will suit the day and good purpose.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Mars, favorable, suggests that you put forth the very best efforts possible, but without overtaxing yourself. Just that one extra try may turn the tide for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 21): Because you did not succeed before at what you believed a worthwhile endeavor does not mean you will not now - IF it is still worthwhile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Matters may get off to a quick start in the a.m. Look carefully over your system, methods; try harder for surer satisfaction. The effort alone will reward.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Mixed planetary influences. Right plans and moves at the right times and places will keep you in the lead for gains, with ease of effort.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Good Neptune influences favor normal routine, as well as the launching of new enterprises. Deliberate, then act. Try a master stroke.

YOU BORN TODAY are surely among the do-ers, not just the dreamers. But you have your moments of dreaming, too. However, it is in the nature of the Scorpio-born to achieve, keep reaching for new heights, so your dreams often materialize in unexpected fashion, and you can catch others off guard with bright ideas and unusual plans. Both music and the theater are excellent outlets for your emotions and talents, but you could also succeed in the law, medicine or science, depending upon your inclinations and education, of course. Robinson Would Like Another Major Try MEXICALI, Mexico (AP) — There are more than miles between Cleveland, where Frank Robinson became major league baseball's first black manager, and Culiacan, Mexico, where the determined Robinson is now managing a team named the Tomatos Pickers.

A California Angels coach during the regular season, Robinson is managing the Pacific League Tomateros this winter with one overriding goal in mind — manage a major league team again.

"I feel a push to get back," Robinson said during a series with the Angels' affiliate in Mexicali. "If another owner or executive feels like he would like to hire me, I would have to get back."

Trooper Investigates Accident

Trooper D. A. Harrison of Post 65 of the Ohio Highway Patrol investigated an injury accident at 2:50 p.m. Monday on State Route 104, just south of the Franklin-Pickaway County line.

According to the report, Max L. Kocheiser, Dublin, was northbound and was passing another northbound car driven by Daniel L. Mulford, Ashville.

As he passed the Mulford vehicle, a northbound pickup truck ahead of Kocheiser suddenly swerved into his path. Kocheiser applied his brakes and told Trooper Harrison that he wasn't sure whether he struck the pick-up or not. The truck failed to stop and continued north.

Kocheiser lost control of his vehicle, left the roadway on the right side, struck a fence owned by Selmar Lehmann on SR 104, and also a utility pole owned by Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric. He suffered minor injuries in the crash.

The Mulford car was hit by flying debris, but the only damage suffered to the vehicle was a hole through the radiator.

Post 65 Trooper E. J. Urban was on SR 104 north of the accident scene, and spotted the pickup truck, but did not know at that time that it had possibly been involved in an accident.

Liquor Permit Denied Darby Twp. Bar

Clifford E. Reich, director of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, announced Tuesday that the liquor permit application of Patty J. Crago has been denied.

Crago, president of Country Honey Inc., Grove City, had applied for a renewal of three permits for consumption of highpowered beer and wine for consumption on the premises and for permit to stay open until 1 a.m.

The permit was denied because the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department reported that the establishment has operated its liquor permit business in a manner that demonstrates a disregard for the laws, regulations and local ordinances of the state.

Numerous fist fights, disruptions and disturbances take place at the permit premises and these problems require the attention of the Pickaway County Sheriff's office, Reich said.

By allowing such conduct to occur, the applicant corporation has placed a burden upon the local law enforcement authorities detracting from the effectiveness of these authorities in maintaining the sobriety, peace and good order in the remainder of the county according to Reich.

Common Pleas Jury Trial For Defendant

In an automobile accident civil case heard in common Pleas Court this week, the jury decided in favor of the defendant, Meredith J. Edgington of Chillicothe.

The suit was brought against him by Alice L. and Garrett E. Patterson, 2035 Sioux Drive. They claimed that he was negligent in operation of an automobile on U.S. Route 23 near Logan Elm Drive on Feb. 12, 1975. The road was snow covered and a collision occurred.

Edgington claimed that Mrs. Patterson, driver of the other vehicle, was contributorily negligent due to sliding over the center line of the passing lane to cause a collision.

The plaintiffs were denied the $37,000 they sought in damages.

The two-day jury trial included the following jurors: Leah M. Ott, Faye I. Moore, Martha J. Brown, Paul L. Norris Jr., Mildred M. Conrad, Kenneth R. Welsh, Kay Sue Kinsell, Myrtle Funk and alternate Frank E. Sill.
